

Golden Shield

So the year ends. Times have passed. The memories have been created. Another dimension of our lives is finished. 1978-1979 is over and will never, never be again.

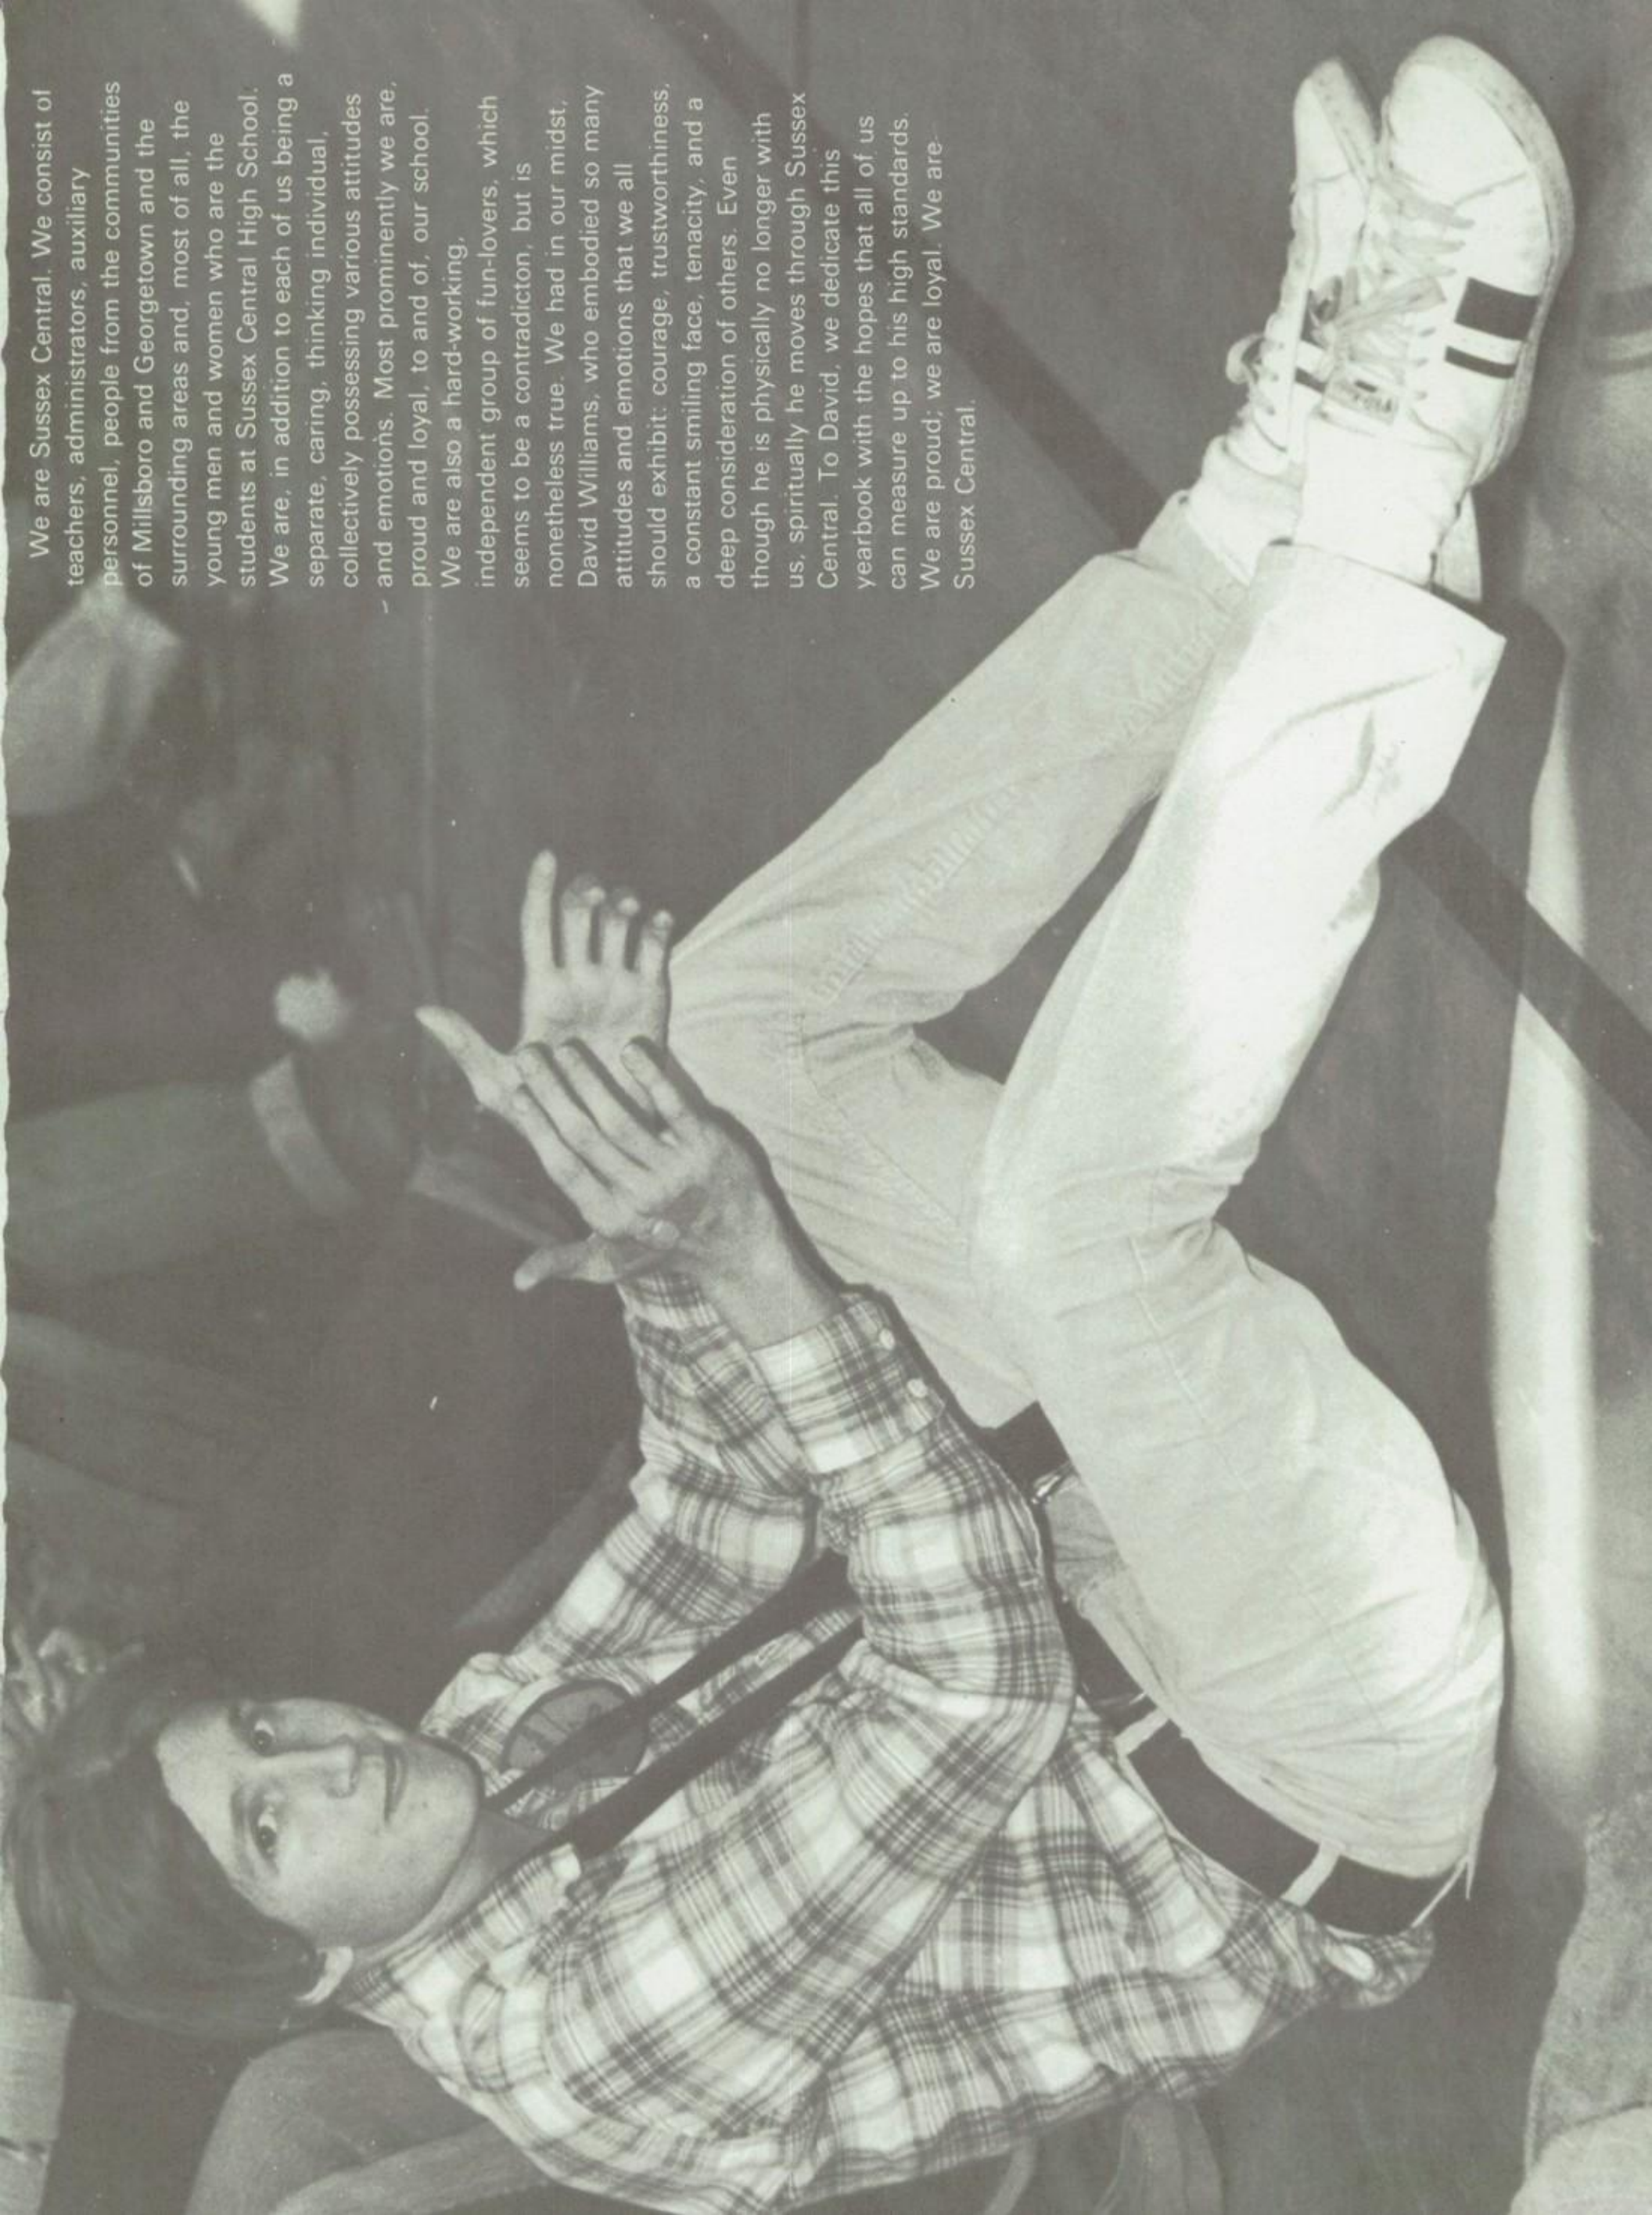

But there will always
be the people and
the place — and
that's what high school is —

The seeing
so many people, and naming them
every day.
For the people; the place; the times hung
in memory;

Shut the book. It's a good book.
But a long time ago.

We are Sussex Central. We consist of teachers, administrators, auxiliary personnel, people from the communities of Millsboro and Georgetown and the surrounding areas and, most of all, the young men and women who are the students at Sussex Central High School. We are, in addition to each of us being a separate, caring, thinking individual, collectively possessing various attitudes and emotions. Most prominently we are, proud and loyal, to and of, our school. We are also a hard-working, independent group of fun-lovers, which seems to be a contradiction, but is nonetheless true. We had in our midst, David Williams, who embodied so many attitudes and emotions that we all should exhibit: courage, trustworthiness, a constant smiling face, tenacity, and a deep consideration of others. Even though he is physically no longer with us, spiritually he moves through Sussex Central. To David, we dedicate this yearbook with the hopes that all of us can measure up to his high standards. We are proud; we are loyal. We are Sussex Central.

We are Sussex Central Seniors — the pick of the litter, the kings of the hill, "79" rules. We have stuck it out for 12 hard years (some of us longer) and we are ready to venture out into the world. The question is — Is the world ready for us? We relax. We toga! And a hearty Hi-Yo Christy. We work. We search. We make faces. We dress. We look. We model. We John Deere it. A smile like that from a Nehi? We grin. We bulk up. We definitely have attended some classes. We are S.C.

HUGH SHARP PRETTYMAN

Beyond emotions, Hugh will never know what this world has to offer;

his classmates, who even as they yet live, may also never know the possibilities of this world.

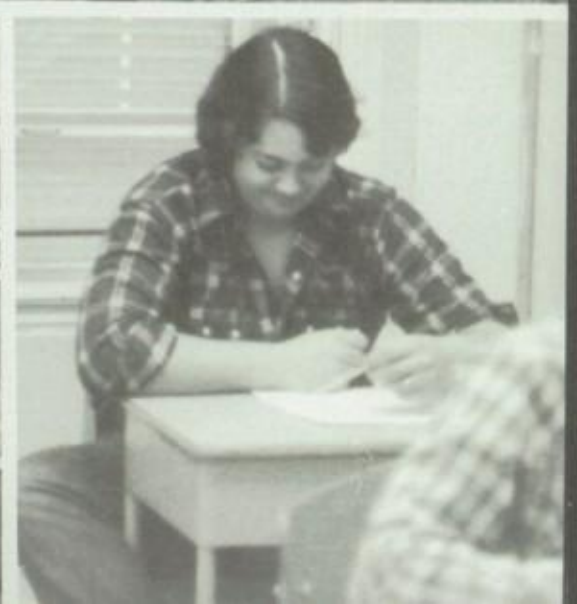

If we could only recognize that to be alive, but as if dead, is worse than not being at all; therefore, wake up, think, to explore the dimensions of purpose for life.

A prayerful attempt to fulfill the purpose of a life may be the most each can bequeath to this world, but at least it will have been unlike any other, for each person is different and to be respected for those differences and what they reap.

Betty S. Prettyman
(Hugh's mother)

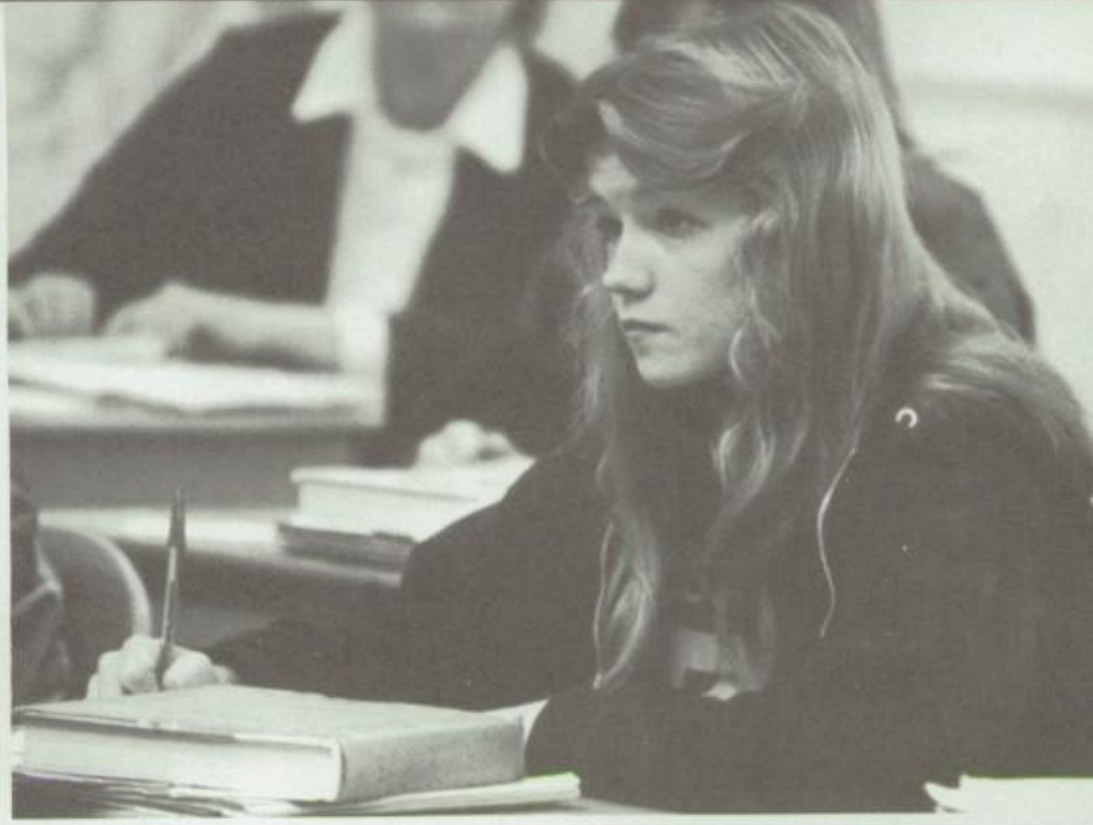

We are Sussex Central's students. Our life at S.C. consists of more than getting an education and participating in extra-curricular activities. We are in the process of maturing into adulthood. Some of us are getting there quicker than others. We socialize, flirt, scheme, gossip, care, love, hate, help, play, work, antagonize, sympathize, resist, persevere, procrastinate, befriend, laugh, cry, joke, think, skip, complain, praise, sing, talk, read, write and most of all, stick together. We are Sussex Central.

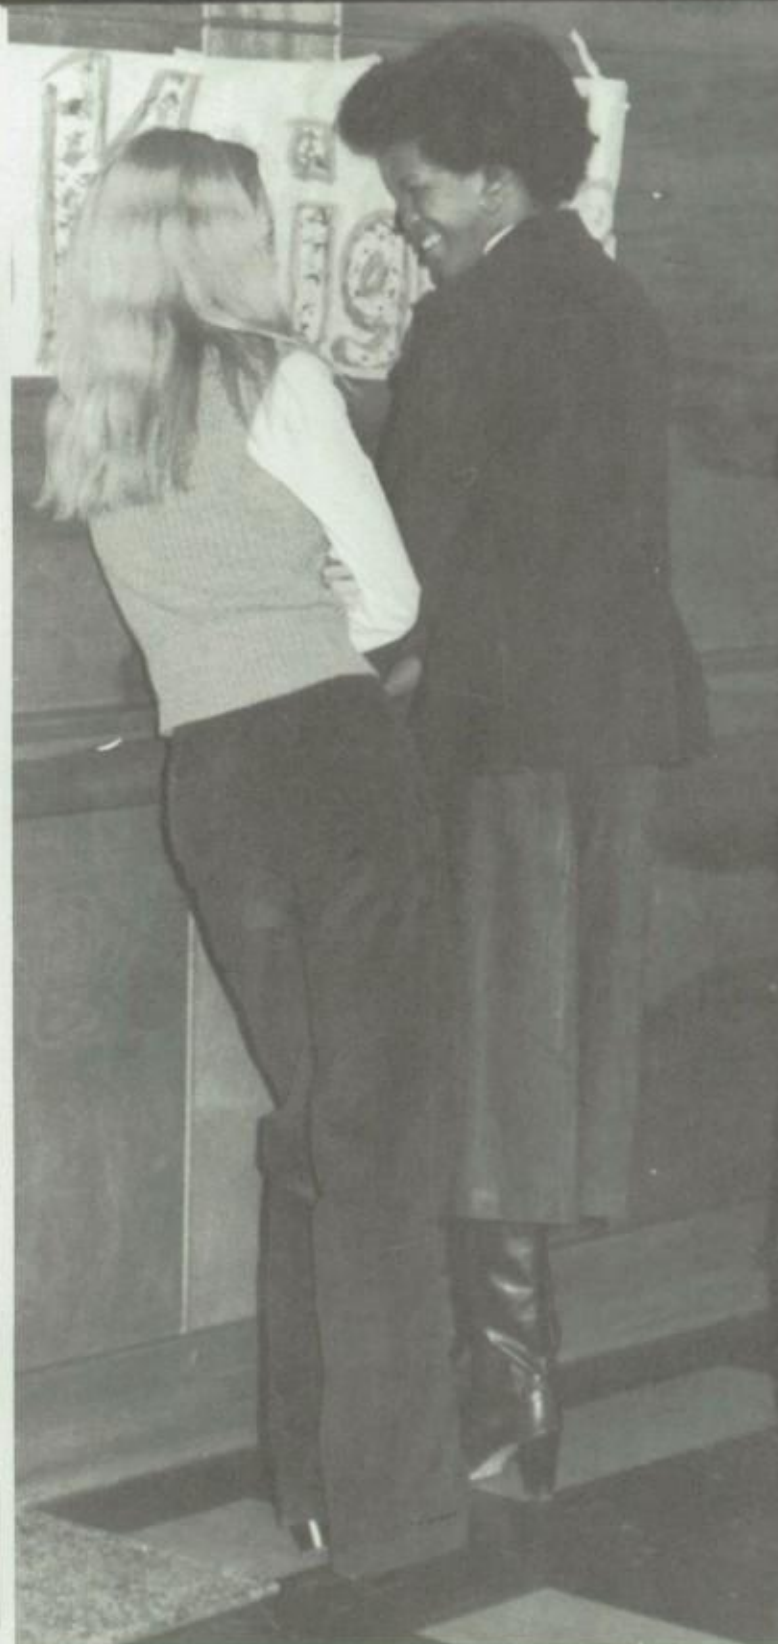

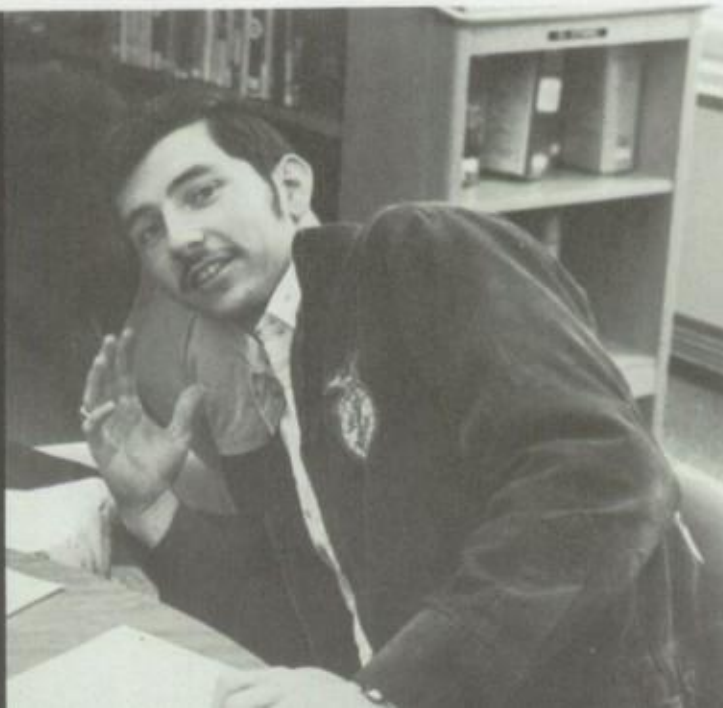

We are Sussex Central. We are in profile. We are enthused. We look on. We "Bump". We shiver. We view. We relax. We stick out our tongue. We're crazy. We read. We are S.C.

We are Sussex Central. We check for dandruff. We are intent. We take a pause. We rest. We play wild-looking instruments. We sky. We rally. We look. We bench. We are S.C.

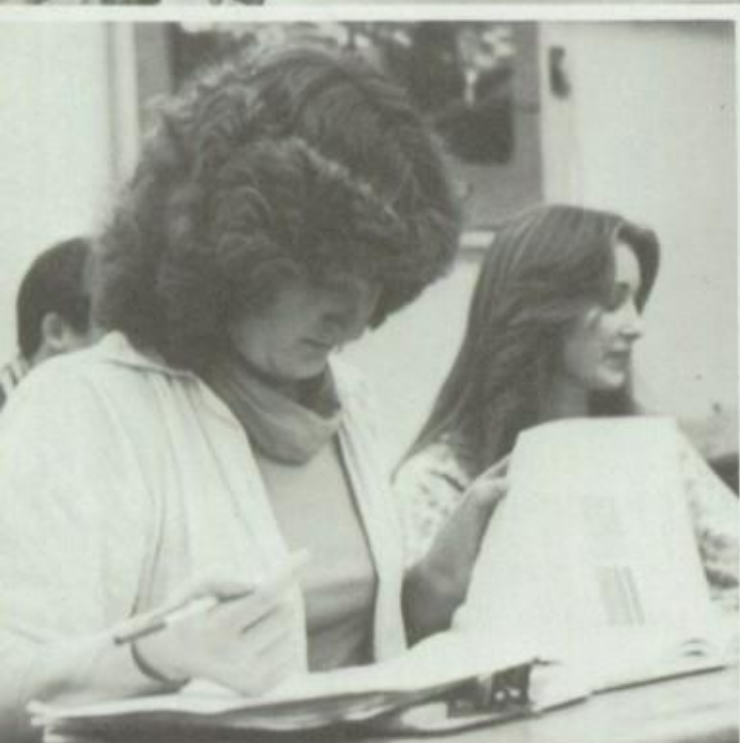

We are Sussex
Central. We dress up.
We blend. We tell jokes? We paint. We shy away from the camera. We are stumped. We are S.C.

We are Sussex Central. We mold. We construct. We assist Mrs. VanAuken. We wake up. We pose with a friend. We pump our triceps. We're happy. We are S.C.

We are Sussex Central. We relax. We watched filmstrips. We kept on truckin'. We read. We wrote. We welded. We cooked. We are S.C.

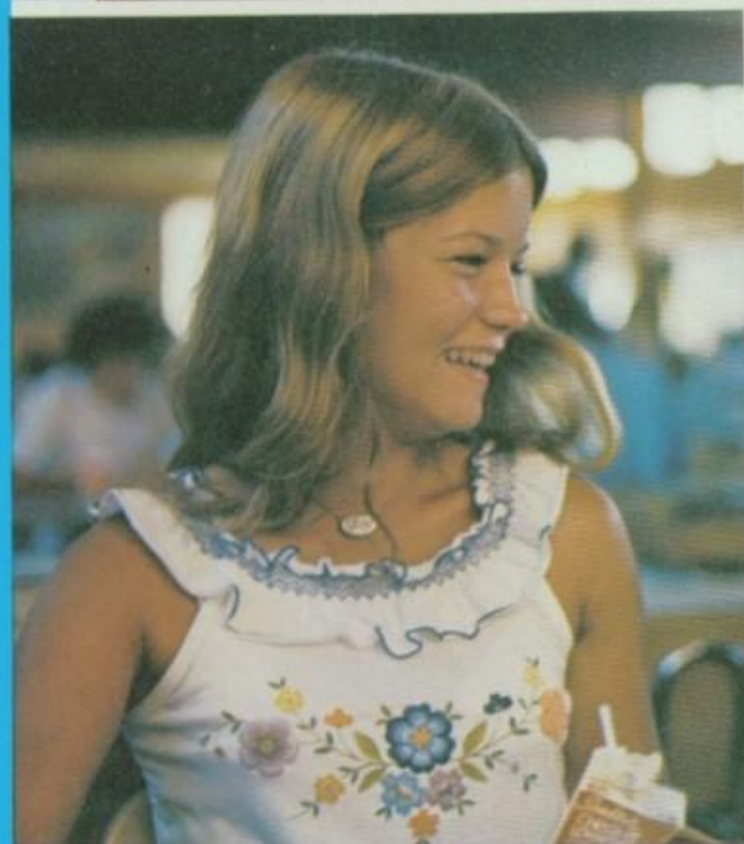

We are Sussex Central. We enjoy.
We pimp. We're in our own different worlds. We're happy. We catch some Z's. We're fenced in. We are S. C.

We are Sussex Central. We welcome you to S.C. We rest when we're weary. We gather round for a bedtime story. We smile. We hang around together. We are S.C.

We are Sussex Central; we sing, we work artistically, we are interested, we learn trades, we stand and applaud, and we stand and applaud enthusiastically. We are Sussex Central.

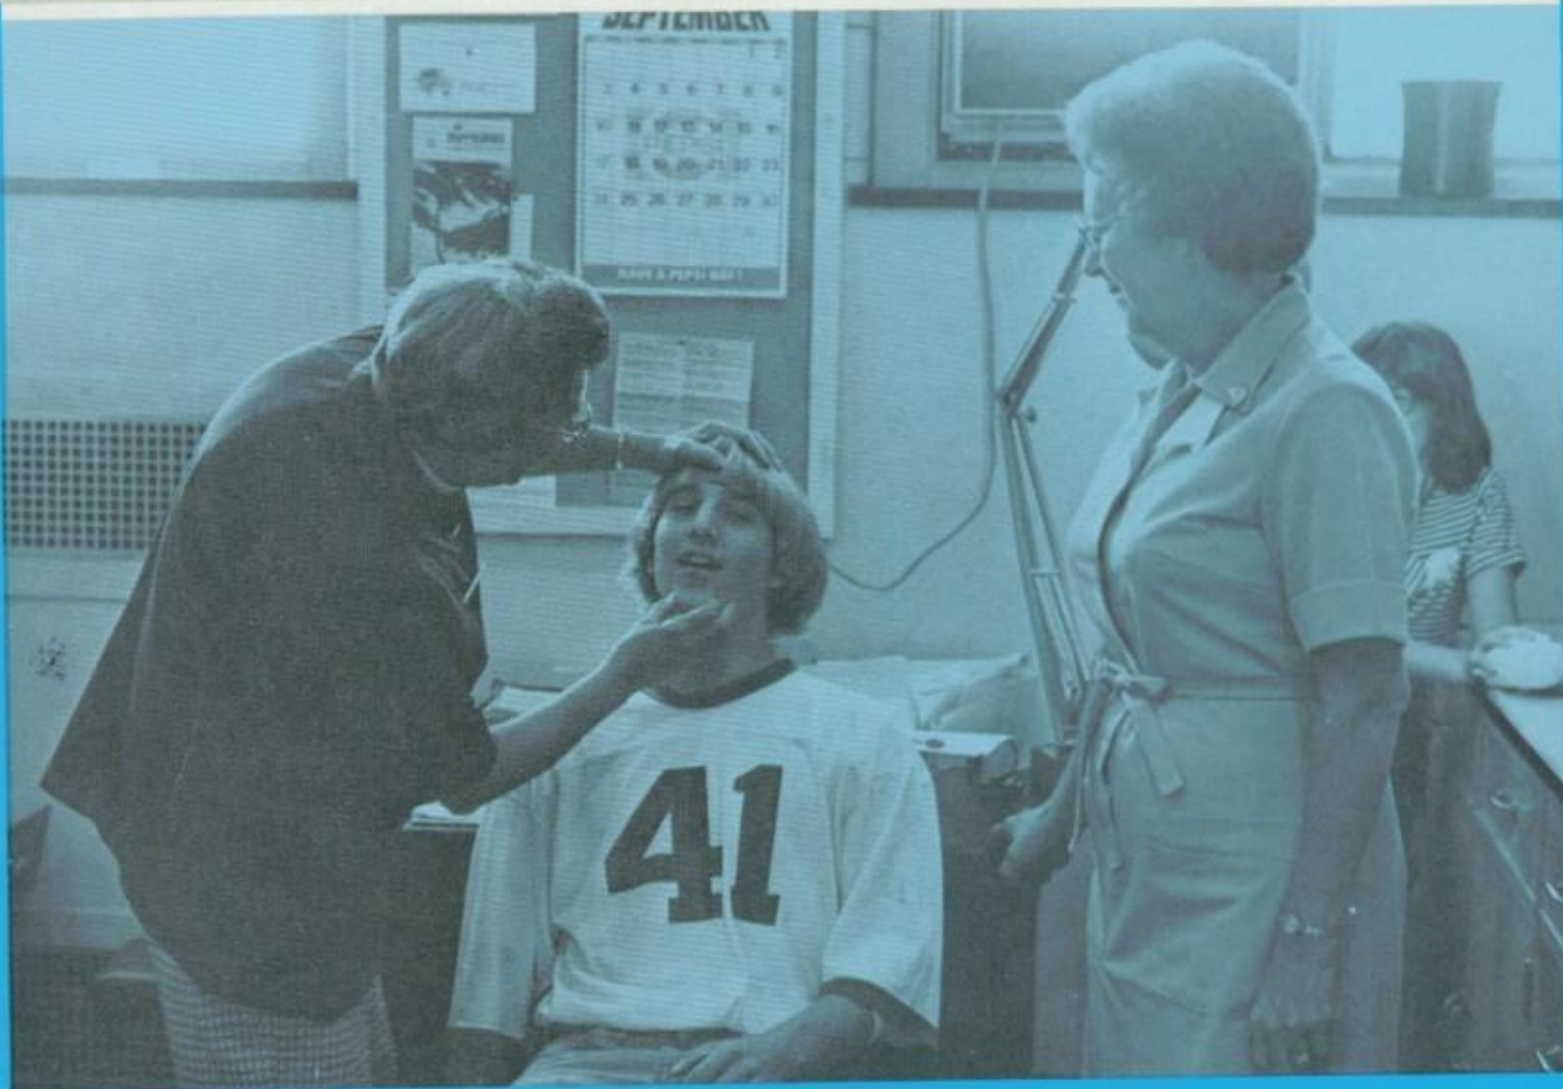

We are Sussex Central, we paint and draw and sculpt and art, we eat and watch others eat, we smile, we listen so very intently, we frown, we speak different languages. We are Sussex Central.

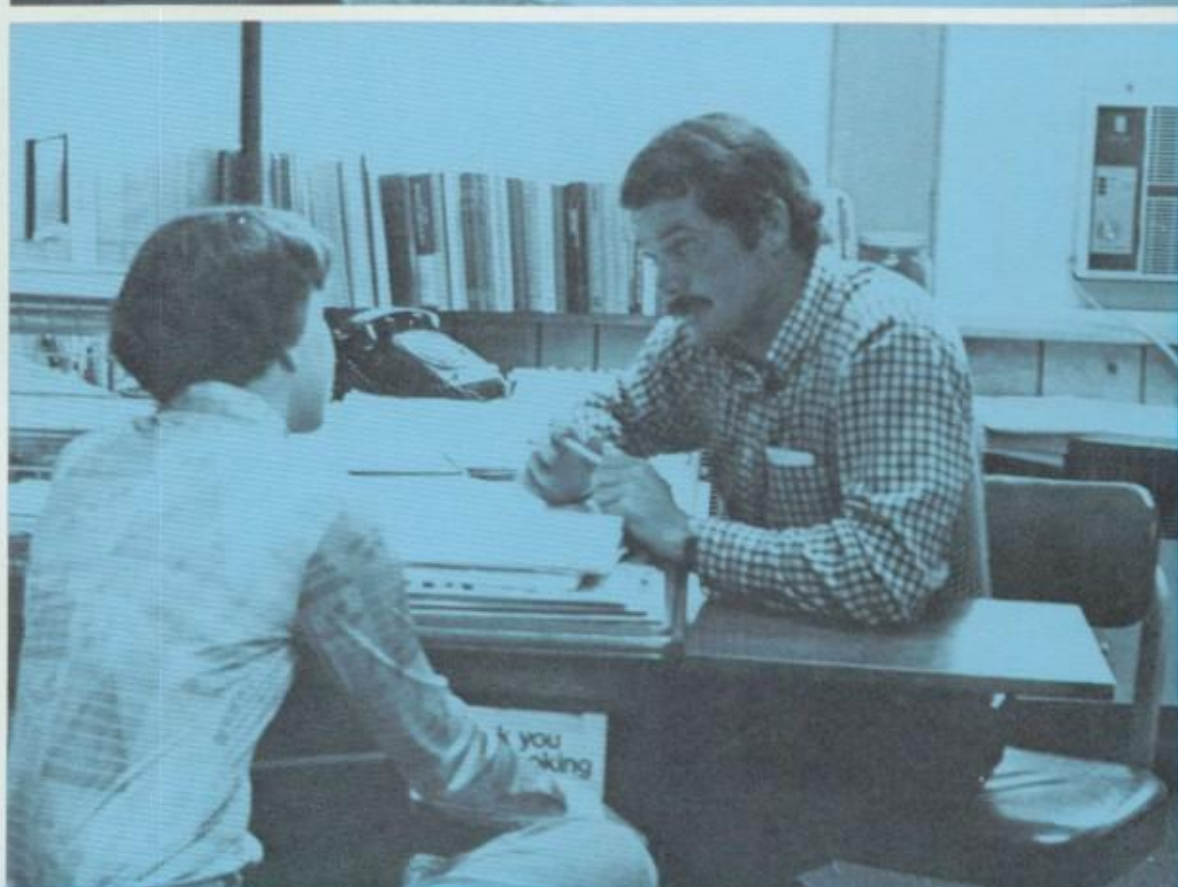

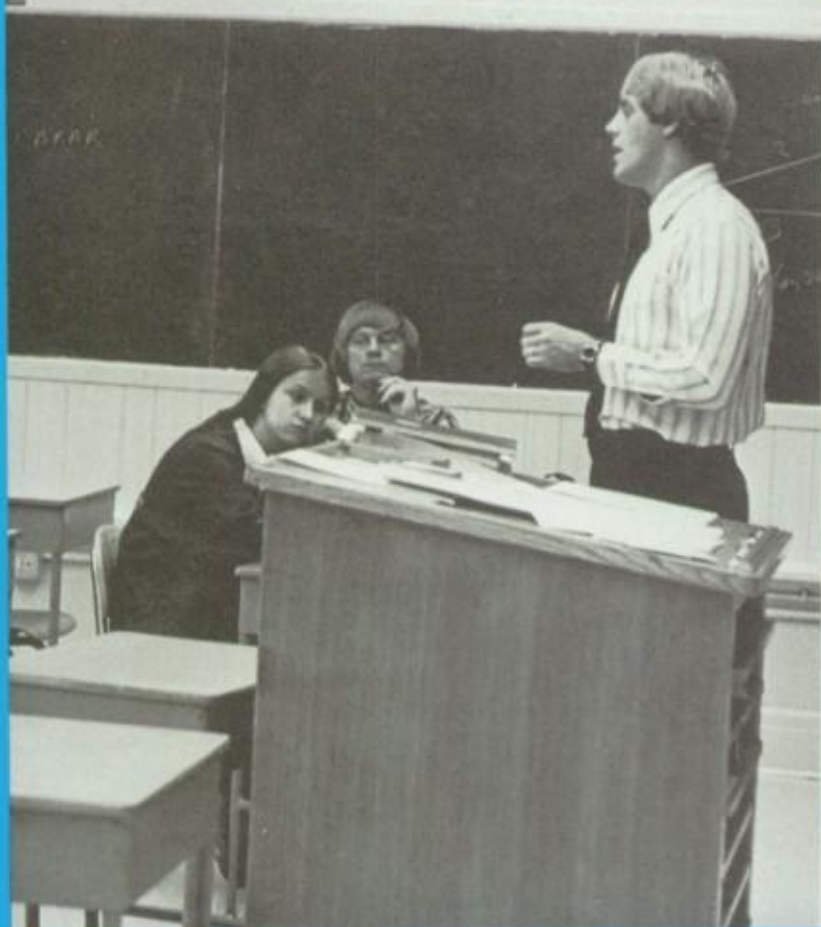

We are Sussex Central, we watch, we wait, we gossip, we play junior spaceman, we photograph, we entertain,
We are Sussex Central.

We are Sussex Central, we tend goal, nonchalantly perhaps, but we tend it nonetheless, we are mechanically inclined, we study, we flirt, we work in the office, we have strange tendencies, we are Sussex Central.

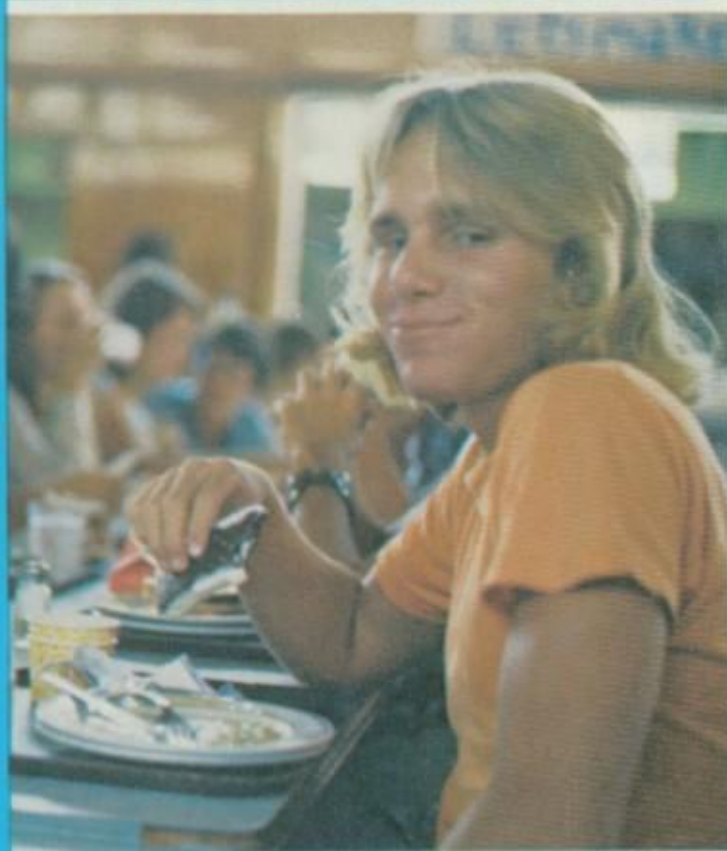

We are Sussex Central, we tease each other, we watch athletic contests, we warm-up, we vulgarly point, we laid back and grinned, we ran the football, we are Sussex Central.

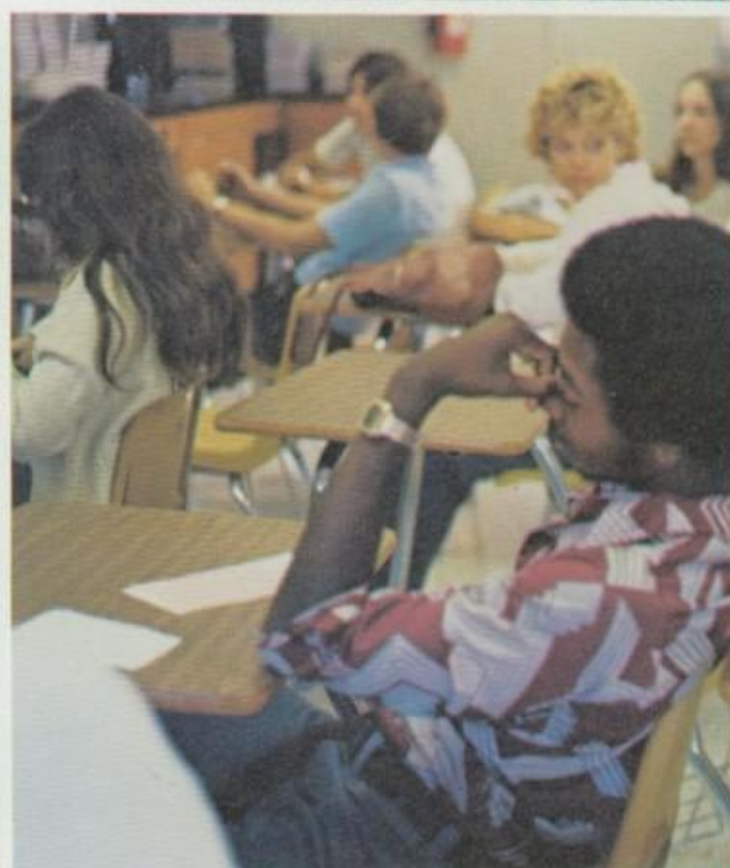

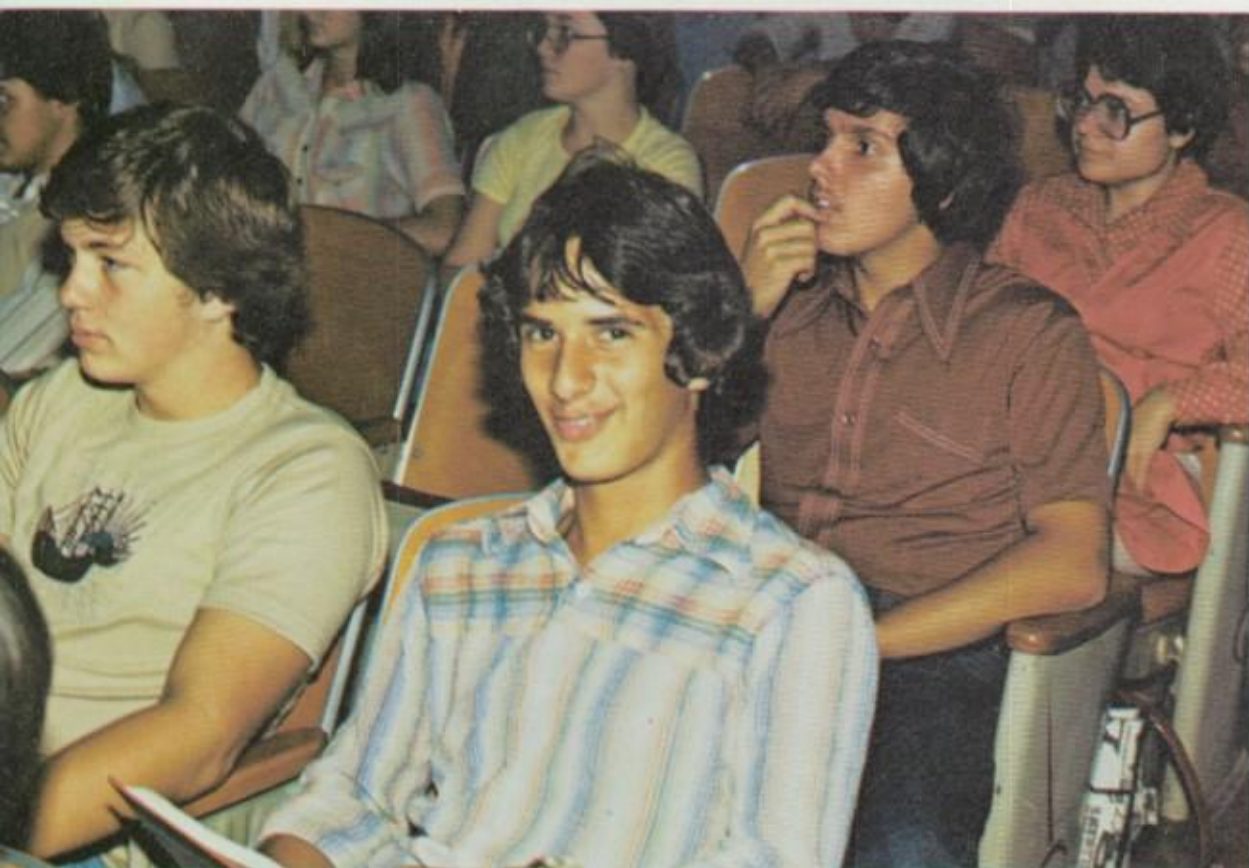

... And then there was that Sunday morning in June when we had our first senior class picture at the football field. Following that was the great caravan to the Burnt Swamp. Dust, dirt and more dust and more dirt. There was also the musical cars game on the way out — right Christy, Joe. Donald had an interesting ride also. Frustrated, dirty, mad ... some of us eventually made it to the "great waterfall" at Phillips Hill.

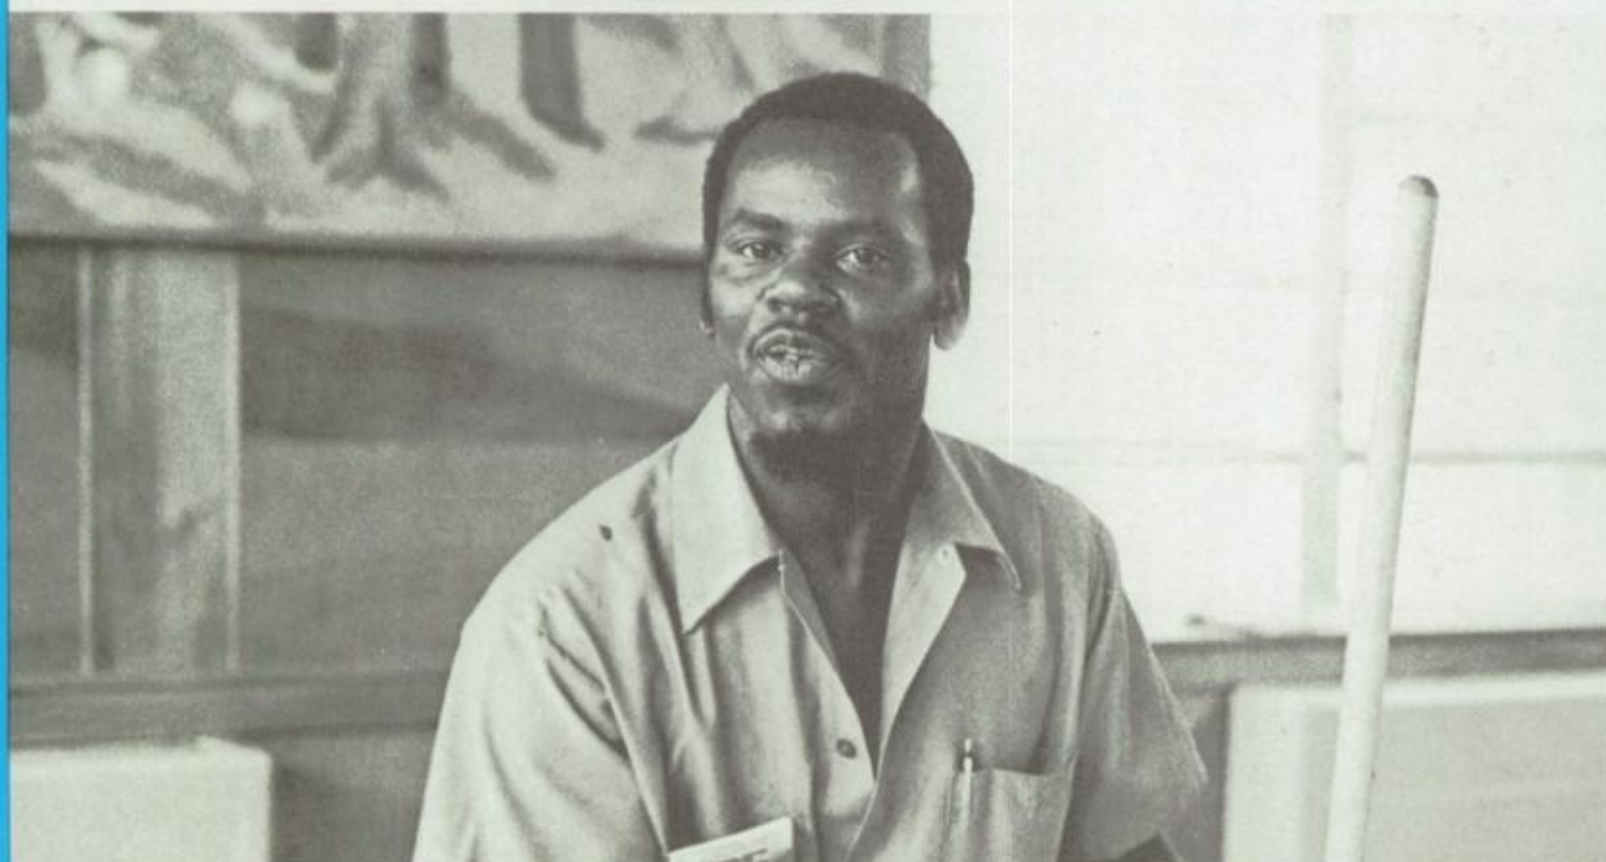

We are Sussex Central, we listen, we check out our food, we grin when we're full, we wait for papers to be returned, we are sometimes bored by it all, we Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores and Knights rock 'n rolled, We are Sussex Central.

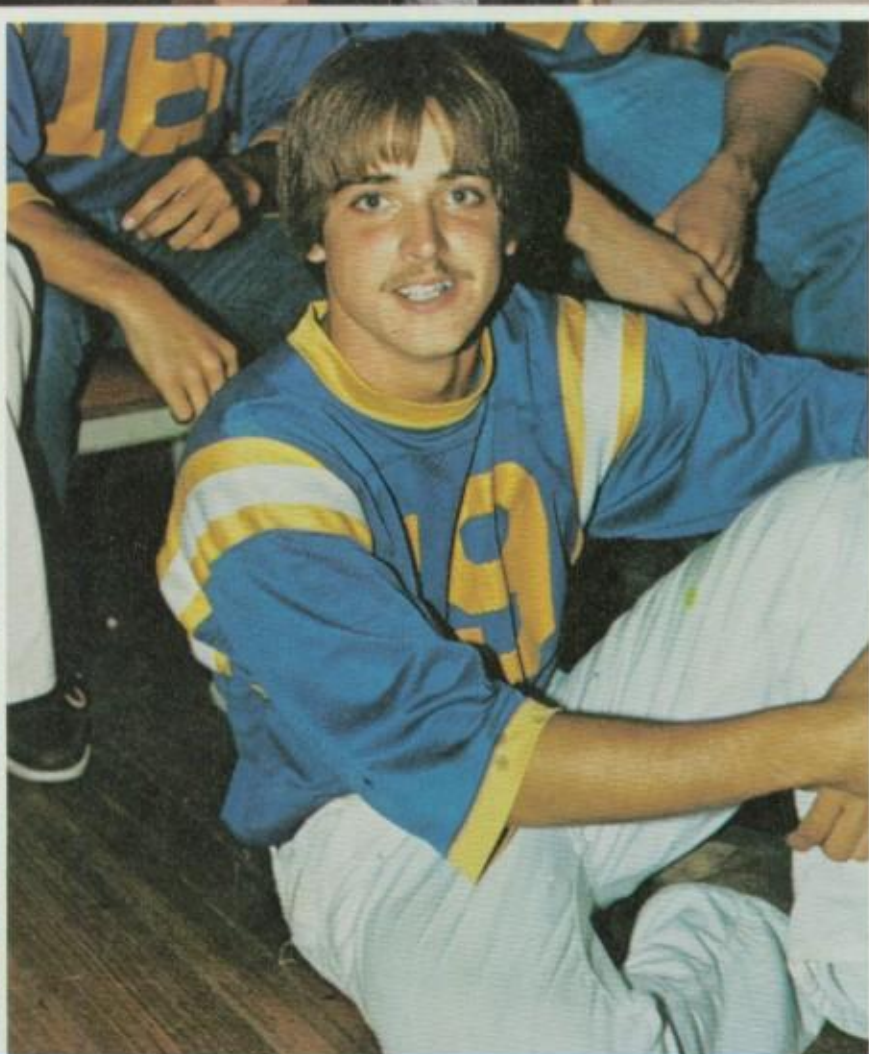

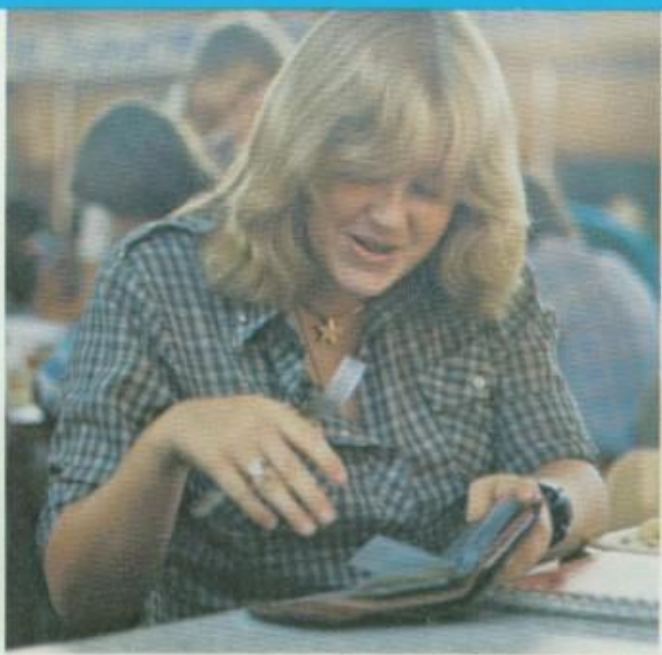

We are Sussex Central, we assembled, we got ready to tackle, we turned our attention from the stage, we dozed, we played with fire, we appeared doubtful, We are Sussex Central.

So the year ends. Times have passed. The memories have been created. Another dimension of our lives is finished. 1978-1979 is over and will never, never be again.

But there will always
be the people and
the place — and
that's what high school is —

The seeing
so many people, and naming them
every day.
For the people; the place; the times hung
in memory;

Shut the book. It's a good book.
But a long time ago.
